Swimming Pool Being Constructed Along with Gym

The swimming pool for the Physical Education Center is now under construction, and an early date for its completion is planned by the college administration.

The contract has been let to Cox Engineering Co. of Birmingham, in the amount of the basic contract—$25,000.

According to Charles Fleming, Jr., SMC business manager, the pool itself came to $25,000 and the ceramic tile decking, which will be installed by the college, will come to another $5,000, making a total of $30,000.

This total of $30,000, raised recently by the student body and college staff, was achieved in approximately six weeks. The campaign was headed by SA President Bert Coolidge and other SA officers.

At the present time the college administrators and the executive committee of the COMMITTEE OF 100 are making plans for the covering of the swimming pool area in connection with the construction of the basic gymnasium building. It is hoped that the financing of this will be worked out within the next two or three weeks.

The board of trustees of the SMC COMMITTEE OF 100, INC., will be meeting on the campus in connection with the annual college board meeting and will give study to some further plans for the building and its completion.

It is hoped that the entire building will be completed and in use before the end of the college year.

Wilson, Waller and Graves Are Leaders at Homecoming

The annual Alumni Homecoming Weekend on the campus of Southern Missionary College featured the classes of 1939 and 1954.

The weekend activities included the Friday evening vesper service, the Sabbath School, the Sabbath church service, and the afternoon service, as well as the appearance of the Voice of Prophecy quartet on Saturday night.

The speaker for the Friday night program was Elder Fred Wilson, a returned missionary from Africa.

The Sabbath School was conducted entirely by alumni. Dr. Louis Waller, '39, was the superintendent.

Elder Ted Graves, '54, MV secretary for the Colorado Conference, was the speaker for the Sabbath church service. Smuts van Rooyen, '64, spoke on Sabbath afternoon.

At the cafeteria a business meeting was conducted, caring for various items of business such as the election of new officers. Mr. Glenn McColpin, president of the world SMC Alumni Association, was chairman at this business session. (Officers and positions are given on inside spread of pictures.)

The Saturday night program was conducted in the tabernacle at 8:00 P.M. The program featured the Voice of Prophecy quartet who flew from Washington, D. C., especially for the occasion. Three of the quartet are former SMC students: Jack Veazey, John Thurber and Jim McClintock.

Pictures of events and personnel for the weekend are included in the center spread of this issue of the SMC ALUMNI BULLETIN.

Dow Chemical Gives Equipment To Science Areas

Dow Chemical Company has made a gift of scientific equipment to Southern Missionary College, according to Dr. John Christensen, chairman of the Science Division of Southern Missionary College.

Dr. Christensen estimated the new retail value of the equipment at about $20,000. He said that it was approximately half a truck load of equipment from the Midland, Mich., plant of Dow Chemical.

Officials Plan Improvements In Alumni Work

The Alumni Executive Committee and the House Committee of Southern Missionary College have been interested for some time in providing wider services and more complete reporting to the alumni of Southern Missionary College.

Although SMC is a young college, it has well over a thousand graduates who are interested in hearing about its activities; therefore, the alumni officers and the House Committee of SMC will be initiating new projects shortly that will keep the alumni more informed and will also ask the alumni to be more active.

Among the items that are in the planning stage is a new SMC ALUMNI BULLETIN that will more accurately portray the progressive spirit of SMC and will also keep the alumni informed of such activities as fund raising, administrative actions, as well as alumni news. Any suggestions from the alumni on the format of this publication and the news to be carried will be sincerely appreciated.

Another activity in which the alumni officers and the college administration are greatly interested is the reactivation of the alumni chapters around the United States. Any alumni members who are anxious to revitalize their local chapters should correspond with the Alumni Office at Southern Missionary College, Post Office Box 501, Collegedale, Tenn.

Another project that will see completion this year and will result in a beautiful addition to the campus is the alumni sign project.

Over $500 is now available in the fund for this project and the architect, the alumni officers, and the college administration will be very active in making sure that a sign representing the college well will be chosen. Construction will begin on this sign as soon as possible.

Elder H. M. S. Richards and the King's Heralds have Saturday night meeting.

Friends and classmates met for supper and talked about "when we were at SMC . . ."

CHAPTERS REORGANIZE, REVITALIZE PROGRAMS

Approximately 80 alumni and friends of the Southern California Chapter of the Alumni Association met at Clifton's Cafeteria in West

Covina, California, in May of 1965.

During the business session new officers were named: Jon Lonberg '61, president; Sara Whitt '61, vice-president; Judy Leeper '60, secretary, Donna Haerich '63, treasurer.

Elder H. R. Beckner was the speaker at the meeting.

A program followed Elder Beckner's talk, consisting of several solos by Judy Fowler-LeBaron and Mary Ellen Carden-Byrd, and organ selections by Jimmy Rhodes. Dr. Ted Dortch was master of ceremonies, and Dr. Bernard Byrd narrated slides of SMC.

Alumni chapter meetings were also held at the various camp meetings in the Southern Union this summer.

Several of the administrative officers and the field representatives were at the various gatherings to show color slide pictures of the college and to serve as hosts for refreshments.

Carolina Conference—William H. Taylor, director of college relations, visited with the Carolina Chapter where the following officers were elected: W. S. Hancock, president; Calvin Acuff, vice-president; Jerry Kenyon, secretary-treasurer; Francis Killen, publicity secretary.

H. H. HAMILTON

H. H. Hamilton, former president of Southern Junior College from 1925 to 1927, died earlier in 1965 at Riverside, California, at the age of 86.

He was a well-known denominational educator, and beginning in 1906 he taught at Keene Academy and Southwestern Junior College.

Later he was president there and at Washington Missionary College, besides being president at Southern Junior College.

Unique Plans Set By SMC Alumnus

Robert Hamm, '48, now lives at Collegedale, where his wife is a student at SMC while he is finishing his master's degree at the University of Chattanooga.

He has served as a missionary in Colombia, South America, for 11 years and plans to return to eastern Colombia and begin an educational program under non-denominational support. This support is a private corporation, which is drawing its support primarily from medical groups on the west coast.

His ministry of education and also medical aid are the tools he desires to use in bringing a better way of life to the Colombians. His plans include setting up a village-to-village radio network and taking back with him an airplane to aid him in traveling to the villages.

In 1961 he and his wife founded a school with equipment from CARE and started classes under the trees until thatched roof buildings could be erected. The enrollment of that school has mushroomed from 10 the first year to 80 this year.

When he returns to Colombia, he hopes to purchase a 500-acre tract of land on which to build the training center. Students will gain practical experience by constructing the school and farming the land to provide food for the school. This experience plus two years of classes in nutrition, preventive medicine and educational subjects will supply the students with knowledge when they establish primary schools and teach agricultural methods and hygiene in their own villages.
